

IS IT WISE TO INVEST IN PROPERTY DURING THIS PANDEMIC?

A guide to choosing your best Investments

All are grieving because this pandemic is not over yet, many businesses are not operating well because of the lack of tourism visits, both local and foreign tourists.

but we still have to think creatively to open up new business opportunities and think positively about the perspective of doing business.

here I will discuss the "art" of doing property business in Bali.

"For everybody – and certainly those in property management and the real estate industry – this entire year has been a big question mark, or maybe an endless string of curse words. But I don't think the real estate market is in as big of trouble as it may look.

If you're wondering what your next move should be, I think you should do exactly what you would do if there wasn't a pandemic. Buy. Sell. rent. But you need to do it with your eyes wide open, and obviously, some regions in the country are stronger and healthier than others".-Forbes Real Estate Council COUNCIL POST Oct 30, 2020.
